

ZERO WASTE PRINCIPLES & PRACTICES TRAINING & CERTIFICATION COURSE

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Entry and mid-level managers of programs and systems serving local governments and other industry professionals that work in an advisory or consulting capacity with municipal programs and staff.

Professionals who take this new Zero Waste Principles and Practices certification course will have the ability to integrate their understanding of Zero Waste with their existing waste management systems, practices and policies to move local systems toward locally-defined Zero Waste goals.

TOPICS WILL INCLUDE:

- Introduction to Zero Waste, including a survey of different definitions and perspectives
- What's In Your Waste Stream?
- Upstream, Midstream and Downstream: understanding Zero Waste strategies as they affect each stage of product lifestyles
- Collections Options
- Processing Technology Options
- Managing Organics
- Public Venues and Challenging Materials
- Changing Behavior through Education and Outreach
- Financing and Funding
- Contracting and Partnerships

The course provides many opportunities for discussion among Instructors and participants. It draws on current materials and examples from outside the published manual and engages students in several in-class exercises.

REGISTER AT WWW.KEYSTONESWANA.ORG

WHEN

May 20, 21, & 22, 2019
Exam on May 23

WHERE

Chester County
Solid Waste
Authority

7224 Division Highway
Narvon, PA

COST

$899 for Keystone SWANA
Members - COURSE ONLY

$999 for Non-Members -
COURSE ONLY

$200 for Certification Exam

The Course can be taken for CEUs only, but it is necessary to take the exam to receive certification.

